Keystone conducted the 2010 annual waste diversion study for Mountain Equipment Co-op's 15 locations across Canada, including head office and the distribution centre.

Keystone worked efficiently and professionally to complete the waste diversion study within a tight timeline. They handled the data gathering with ease and worked independently with our extensive network of vendors to obtain the most current information possible. The Keystone staff communicated directly with our sustainability coordinators at each location in order to gain a detailed understanding of the specific recycling programs that each store had developed and identified any challenges they faced.

I would recommend Keystone as a professional service to any organization that wants to accurately measure their waste diversion and identify ways to improve their recycling program.
